

Relief Measure Is Passed By House

FDR'S REQUEST IS REDUCED BY $150,000,000

Members Rebel Against Roosevelt Spending Policies

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The House, rebelling against President Roosevelt's spending policies, passed tonight a $725,000,000 emergency relief appropriation—$150,000,000 less than recommended by the chief executive.

Speaker Bankhead announced that the vote was 399 to 16.

Republicans, their ranks augmented by the November election, voted with conservative democrats in an effective coalition to slash the fund before the final vote was reached. The vote on the slash was 236 to 137.

The chamber inserted restrictions aimed at the elimination of politics from relief and, contrary to the wishes of the administration, it adopted an amendment to provide that pay rates for similar work should not vary by more than 25 per cent throughout the country. Southern democrats were solidly behind the amendment.

The day's developments brought partial fulfillment of predictions made by political observers since the election of last fall, that the session would see the emergence of a coalition of conservatives of both parties sufficiently numerous to balk the president on many points of his program.

The issue of appropriating $725,000,000 instead of $875,000,000 was presented under parliamentary circumstances which prevented a roll call vote on the size of the appropriation.

This fact was a source of deep disappointment to many members who supported the president's estimates. Some of them, notably Representative Cannon (D-Mo.), who led the movement for the larger appropriation, charged that unusual procedure had been invoked to keep some members from "being put on the spot" on the issue.

I am not interested in putting anyone on the spot, either side of the aisle," said Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the bill. "I am interested in getting something constructive done on this bill."

Circuit Court Redistricting Being Planned

Assembly Will Try To Make Changes Before Elections

Springfield, Ill. Jan. 13.—(AP)—Legislators will begin consideration of circuit court redistricting bills next week faced with the need for prompt action before the spring judicial elections.

The bills that would create two new districts and realign 16 existing districts must be passed before nominating conventions are held in April unless the legislature wishes to wait six years until the next election. Redistricting can only be accomplished in election years.

Fifty-one circuit court judges are to be elected June 5 in downstate Illinois. Convention calls must be filed by March 22 and the nominating conventions must be held between April 6 and April 17.

Judicial elections this year are expected to assume more than normal significance because Republicans, victorious downstate in the November elections, are concentrating on the judgeship races as a prelude to the 1940 campaign.

If the Dixon-Gunning-Baker-Barr redistricting bill is approved it will mean six more judges will have to be elected for the two new districts.

Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago, chairman of the Senate judicial committee, has promised a hearing on the redistricting proposal when the legislature reconvenes. The legislature will meet next Tuesday.

Although opposition has developed in some counties affected by the proposed shifts, Senator George Dixon (R-Ill.) said he expects a decisive vote before the elections. Because the shifts affect county political organizations he hoped to have action before March 22, the last day on which county chairmen file calls for conventions.

Dixon and Senator Charles W. Baker (R-Ill.) Junctions filed a separate bill changing only White-side county from the 14th to the 15th district. This shift also is proposed in the principal redistricting bill.

The term of one State Supreme Court Justice Warren H. Orr, Rock Island Democrat, expires this year, and the election in the Fourth district will be held June 5 at the same time circuit judges are elected.

Counties in the Fourth district are Adams, Brown, Cass, Fulton, Hancock, Henderson, Mason, McDonough, Menard, Mercer, Morgan, Rock Island, Schuyler and Warren.

PLACE GUARD AT CELL OF JOHN QUINN

Confessed Slayer Of Dr. G. E. Mordoff Is Former Convict

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A special guard was posted today at the cell of John Quinn, confessed slayer of his brother-in-law, Dr. Gordon E. Mordoff.

The prisoner's belt and necktie were removed as a precaution against any attempt at suicide after he detailed the shooting and his motive in a statement to Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis.

He killed my sister, Quinn was quoted as saying. "She died from a broken heart caused by worry and disappointment. He took her life so I snuffed out his life. Of course, I don't feel good but I do feel satisfied."

Dr. Mordoff, a prominent news figure in 1936 when he lost a stirring court fight in the dramatic "Sonny Boy" custody case, was shot to death in his office building in suburban Wilmette late yesterday. Quinn, a slender, gray haired man of 63, was captured six hours later.

Mrs. Mordoff died in February, 1936. Miss Margaret Mann then claimed the child. She testified the baby was born to her out of wedlock and boarded in the Mordoff home. The doctor contended his wife was the true mother of the youngster. Circuit Judge Rudolph Desor ended the litigation by awarding the lad then three and a half to Miss Mann.

Investigators said Quinn was sentenced to five years in the Minnesota state prison in 1894 on a charge of first degree assault. Quinn told them he was convicted of robbery in 1912 and sent to the Illinois state penitentiary for three and a half years.

Arthur "Doc" Barker Is Killed While Attempting To Escape From Alcatraz

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Arthur "Doc" Barker, 40, gangland terror, and kidnaper, participated with four other convicts in an amazing attempt to break away from "escape proof" Alcatraz early today and lost his life. Shot in the head and through the leg by guards as he made ready for a desperate swim into fog-shrouded San Francisco bay, Barker died at 5:45 P. M. tonight in the prison hospital.

Barker, who was shot as he allegedly ignored a guard's order to halt, had dived below fellows in sawing their way out of a steel cell block and were making ready for a desperate swim toward freedom when guards with blazing rifles captured them, wounding two.

One of the wounded was the notorious Arthur (Doc) Barker, gang leader and kidnaper. He was reported in a critical condition.

In one of the thickest fogs the rock prison island had experienced since it became the terror of federal convicts in 1934 the five prisoners slipped quietly through the bars they had severed and out into the darkness.

At 4 A. M. a guard noticed the empty cells and saw the severed bars. In a moment the entire 12-acre island was awash with light. But even powerful searchlights did not penetrate far into the fog, which Warden James A. Johnston described as "like a mass of wool."

Guards along the island's rim finally sighted the prisoners fleeing toward water. Barker was shot through the head and leg as he ignored a guard's order to halt. Dale Stampflin, 27, Oklahoma kidnaper was shot through both legs.

The other three fugitives surrendered. They were William McCann, 35, a kidnaper; Henry Young, 28, bank robber; and William Martin, 25, Negro, a postoffice robber.

Martin was bruised and cut as he slid down the rocky northwest side of the island toward the water. Warden Johnston said the convicts were collecting pieces of driftwood and tying them together, when ordered to surrender.

Incidentally, Alcatraz gave up one of its secrets—one of the traps that keeps alive the hope of escape.

The secret was guffawed. Day by day the escape-minded prisoners among Alcatraz 400 to 400 convicts see low, rocky, old masts and other

ARTHUR "DOC" BARKER

Boismart drifting past, offering potential life-savers to anyone who would attempt to swim the 1 1/2 miles of treacherous bay current to the mainland.

Prisoner Martin's luck with driftwood ran to form for Francis, the 13th. The pieces were small.

How the convicts got the saws remained a mystery. Johnston said the prisoners were permitted to have no direct contact with anyone from the outside. Whether they filched the instruments from the prison machine shop was "a matter of speculation," the warden said. The saws were not found.

Barker, a leader of the Barker-Karpis gang, is serving a life sentence for the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, Alvin Karpis, co-leader of the notorious bank and kidnaping gang, is serving a life term for the abduction of Dr. Fred Myers of Leidy, Okla.

McCann is under a 99-year sentence for kidnapping employees of the Iabel, Okla. national bank. Young robbed the First National bank of Lind, Wash. and is serving 20 years. Martin is under a 25-year sentence for a postoffice robbery in Illinois.

The warden said all five were struggling off their clothes as they ran toward the water.

Presumably the five were following the same route taken by convicts Ted Cole and Ralph Roe who disappeared from the island prison in a heavy fog Dec. 16, 1937. Johnston expressed belief Cole and Roe drowned in the treacherous tides but some prisoners have clung to the belief the pair escaped.

U. S. WOULD END DISCRIMINATION AGAINST JEWS

Practical Solution Of Controversy Reached

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Germany and the United States, though completely at odds on Germany's right to discriminate against American Jews in Germany, appeared today to have reached a practical solution for a controversy that has added tension to the disturbed relations between them.

An exchange of notes between the two governments released this afternoon by the state department disclosed:

1.—The United States again declared to recognize Germany's right to apply to American Jews in Germany treatment not applied to other American citizens.

2.—Germany declared there was nothing in international law to prevent her from doing so.

3.—Germany, however, agreed to respect rights to which American citizens were entitled by virtue of treaties between the two governments.

4.—The United States expressed itself as "gratified" at this and agreed to submit to the German foreign office for its examination cases of alleged discrimination against American Jews. Hitherto such cases were taken up with local authorities.

5.—The German foreign office states that "if such cases should be brought to its attention by the American embassy, the German government for its part is prepared to examine and settle them on the basis of prevailing treaty provisions."

American officials will now await Germany's decision on the specific cases as a test of her intentions with regard to American Jews.

Officials, on the basis of the two notes, believed tonight that Germany would settle the cases of American Jews who suffered damage or injury in recent outbreaks.

CORDELL HULL MAKES DEMAND AFTER HEARING

Secretary Of State Is Questioned By Committee

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Hull emerged from a critical barrage of senate committee questioning of his trade program today with an unofficial commission to draft legislation for an investigation of "tariff lobbyists" he said were intent on wrecking it.

The white-haired Secretary of State was called before the senate finance committee for questioning about his department's policy in making reciprocal trade treaties.

Senators from sugar-producing states wanted to ask him particularly about reports that the United States, although waiting for public hearings on a proposed revision of the trade treaty with Cuba, had already promised Cuba that the American duty on sugar would be cut from 90 to 75¢ a hundredweight.

Hull flatly denied the reports, and from a defense of the department's trade policies swung quickly to the attack by volunteering that "this town now is swarming with sugar lobbyists."

His remarks brought immediate protests from Senators Adams (D-Colo.) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) that the only sugar "lobbyists" they had seen were bona fide sugar beet raisers or processors who came here at the invitation of the state department.

O'Mahoney said he thought the secretary was "condemning the sugar people on the basis that it is a good thing to give a dog a bad name before you hang him."

Hull said he welcomed expressions of opinion from sugar beet growers and processors.

"But," he added, "I can see a few things through the cracks here, in Washington and what I am talking about is the professional lobbyists."

O'Mahoney then challenged him to draft legislation for a congressional investigation of sugar lobbyists.

"I will if you will include all of the tariff lobbyists," Hull replied. O'Mahoney said that was agreeable to him.

When the hearing adjourned, Hull and O'Mahoney agreed that the secretary should draft the legislation in the form of an amendment to a resolution introduced by ten senators.

The resolution proposes an investigation of whether the state department, when making trade agreements, is adhering strictly to the trade act requirements for advance public notice and hearings on proposed treaties.

AUTO WORKERS WILL SUPPORT HOMER MARTIN

U W A President's Powers

Detroit, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Hundreds of automobile workers protesting restriction of Homer Martin's presidential powers, jammed their way today into the United Automobile Workers international headquarters where the CIO union's executive board hostile to Martin was meeting.

Some of them gained an audience with the board. Before they departed nearly 100 members of a faction opposing Martin crowded into a union ante-room.

A detail of police watched the demonstration apprehensive of a possible clash. There was no disorder, although the men shouted and milled about the narrow corridors of the building.

Several hours after nightfall both groups quietly left the building by different doors, walking out through lines of policemen.

Many came from the Packard motor car plant, which was forced to close its small car division after union leaders said 2,000 UAW members walked out. Men from Plymouth and Ford locals joined the group driving through a heavy snowfall in the UAW offices.

Don Wilson, a Martin supporter, said the rank and file "wants all restrictions on Martin's power rescinded."

Denied use of elevators, hundreds of the demonstrators walked up ten flights to the eleventh floor, where UAW offices are located, and jammed a door blocking their entrance there.

The board invited a delegation in to its meeting, and they crowded about the board room, in heated discussion with board members. Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW vice-president and a leader of the dominant anti-Martin group on the board, could be seen gesticulating vigorously as he talked to the men.

The "invasion" of the building progressed on Page 9.

ADOLF HITLER ASKS IL DUCE TO AVOID WAR

Negotiations For Another Year

Rome, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's diplomatic draw-out with Premier Mussolini was thrust into the background momentarily today by reliable reports Adolf Hitler advised Il Duce to avoid war during 1939 in seeking to achieve Italy's natural aspirations for colonies.

The British prime minister meanwhile paid a cordial visit to the Vatican, canvassing hopes for peace.

Hospitals Will Be Given Funds

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced today that grants totaling $140,800 would be distributed among a score of hospitals and universities.

The grants will be used for scientific research and for prevention and treatment of after effects of the disease, said Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation, which grew out of the annual President's Birthday Ball.

The organization, created last year, announced it had formulated a program to be used when poliomyelitis epidemics strike communities.

Scientific research will include a study of the paralysis virus, how it enters the human body and how it leaves. The developments of a nasal spray to be used in epidemics is also under study.

Sub-Committee To Prepare Program For Wheat Parley

Ten Nations Will Participate In Drafting World Agreement

London, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The International Wheat Advisory Committee today appointed a sub-committee of ten nations to prepare a program for a world wheat conference.

The sub-committee, designated as the conclusion of the international body's meeting here, included the United States, Argentina, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Germany, Romania, Hungary, Soviet Russia, and France.

They must obtain approval of a program by the full advisory committee before the date for the world conference will be fixed.

Ray Aberton, United States Minister to Bulgaria, was named to be chairman of the sub-committee but deferred acceptance.

The advisory committee refrained from giving specific instructions to the drafting committee but called its attention particularly to the following points:

1. The need for close cooperation between importing and exporting nations.
2. The desirability of a world wheat agreement running five years.
3. The desirability of setting a minimum international price for wheat.
4. Study of export subsidy schemes now operating in various countries.
5. The desirability of setting export quotas not on a bushel basis, but as percentages of world demand in a crop year.

Agreement reduction definitely was urged by the full committee, although each nation participating in an agreement could adopt that system as a corollary to an export quota if desired.

Claims Findings Were Published

Baltimore, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Dr. Raymond Pearl, Johns Hopkins University biologist, taking cognizance of Secretary Ickes' statement last night that findings at John Hopkins on effects of tobacco smoking so far as he knew had not appeared in any newspaper, said tonight his findings had been "printed in every cross-road newspaper in the country."

In his radio speech last night on the freedom of the press, Ickes said:

"I understand that at Johns Hopkins University there is a very sensational finding resulting from study of the effect of cigarette smoking, that has not appeared so far as I know, in any newspaper in the United States. I wonder if that is because the tobacco companies and the cigarette companies are such large advertisers."

"My publication in science was of 'life tables of smokers,'" Dr. Pearl stated. "There was no specific mention of cigarettes. It showed that smoking was harmful. It dealt generally with all smokers."

"But so far from not having been given publicity, the matter has been printed in every cross-roads newspaper in the country and the clippings have been delivered to me by the post."

Continue Probe Of Gang Slaving

Peoria, Ill. Jan. 13.—(AP)—T. P. Peoria state superintendent of criminal identification and investigation left here today for an unannounced destination after a several days' inquiry into the death of Anton J. Miller, Peoria locksmith, who was shot in gangster fashion near his home Monday.

Sullivan attributed Miller's death to slot machine activities.

"Miller was Public Enemy No. 1 of the gambling syndicate," Sullivan said. "He was blackmailing the syndicates by buying up stolen slot machines and reselling them. He was also making and selling keys to rob those machines."

Whether Sullivan had completed his investigation was not known.

Man Who Hated To Lose Mixed Baseball With Buildings, Beer

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the man who hated to lose and who mixed baseball, buildings and beer to his delight and profit, died today after a long illness.

Owner of the New York Yankees, one of baseball's really great teams, owner of a big brewery and a leader in the industry, owner of vast, rich real estate—one of the largest property holders in New York—the multimillionaire Colonel at 71 was a living exemplification of a winner—and all the world loves a winner.

You and I are going to see the opening game of the season," said Babe Ruth as he stood beside the Colonel's bedside last night. Babe knew the Colonel wouldn't be there. Perhaps the Colonel knew, too, for he reached out, squeezed Ruth's hand and said firmly: "Babe."

The big fellow left the Colonel's room in tears. The Colonel, in all their years of association, had never called him "Babe" before; it was always "Ruth."

Colonel Ruppert's vigorous life was curtailed last April when he was stricken with an attack of pneumonia, inflammation of the lungs, a painful affliction which he acquired with his customary cheerfulness and good nature.

He nearly broke his old sporting heart when he was unable to see the beloved Yankees with their third consecutive world series last fall. He had to take his baseball second-hand via radio.

The Colonel's condition became very grave early this week and the last rites of the Roman Catholic church were administered. But he smiled and forecast his speedy recovery.

For two hours last night he was in an oxygen tent. He managed a weak "good morning" today to Albert Brennan, his confidential and executive secretary for the past 27 years. The doctor came at 10 and told Brennan to notify the Colonel's family that the end was near. At 10:38 he died peacefully. Those at his bedside said with no hint of the pain he had endured these last months.

A high requirement must be celebrated at 11 A. M. Monday in St. Ignace Loyola church on Upper Park Avenue. In event will be private in the Ruppert family vault at Kensico cemetery.

The Ruppert fortune has been estimated at between $500,000 and $1,000,000. Colonel Ruppert was a bachelor and gave himself the proud title of "the best housekeeper in New York."

Moran Trial Is Halted When 4 Men Are Seized

Youths Sitting in Front Row Are Questioned By Officials

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The forgetful trial of George "Burr" Moran and two co-defendants was interrupted today by the seizure of four young men who sat in the front row near the jury box.

They were taken to the state attorney's office and asked why they were whispering and recalcitrating. All were released when they explained their merely were manifesting their amusement over the repartee of the rival lawyers.

Moran, gang leader of the bootleg era, Frank Parker and Frank Hicketta, alias Ross, were charged with conspiracy to forge and cash American Express Company travelers checks in an alleged $500,000 plot.

G. C. Troyano, a special agent for the company, gave testimony later designed to support the witness stand story of Emile Van Bever, attorney who acted as an undercover agent, and exposed the purported scheme.

He said he heard Van Bever complain to Ross about tardiness in the delivery of a batch of the spurious paper, and Ross replied:

"What's your hurry? Doing business with me is like dealing with a national bank."

The trial was adjourned until Monday.

The Governor's Illness

The United States has had presidents who expended less energy and served under less nervous tension than Henry Horner, has experienced as governor of Illinois.

Governor Horner, it has often been said, has taken a more active personal role than any other in history. He has tried to keep in personal touch with everything connected with the state's business. He has worked long hours in his office and made hurried trips about the state that would prove wearing to the strongest constitution.

The governor has been a power house of energy since his election in 1932. Of robust physique he continued the same vigorous tactics at the beginning of his second term that characterized his first.

He was at the front in every political battle. He led his forces to several brilliant victories at the same time keeping in close touch with his routine duties. But no man can stand up under six strenuous years such as the governor has had, and not show its effects.

Governor Horner did not outwardly display physical weakening until after the November campaign in which he assumed a prominent part. Then the months and years of hard work and strain made themselves known in the form of an illness which has kept him inactive.

Presidents of the United States surround themselves with corps of assistants who absorb much of the strain and shock of public life. Governors are not so well protected against the rigors of holding high office. They feel that they must keep in personal touch with affairs in their state. Sometimes they carry too much of the burden, and falter under the heavy responsibilities.

Governor Horner has been in Florida since November, fighting to regain his health. That his condition has been serious is not denied. When he will be able to return to Illinois and resume his duties is doubtful.

Physicians attribute his weakened condition to overwork. When he does come back to take charge of the affairs of the state, he should not attempt to renew the schedule of old.

his views with common sense and deliberation. When he raises his voice for or against an issue, the people have learned to respect his views.

It is therefore to be expected that he is not swept off his feet by the current debate about the imminence of a foreign war. Instead, Senator Borah says that the United States chief worry should be about our own domestic situations.

In a letter written to a prominent Washington citizen, the head of the foreign relations committee of the senate pointed out his principal domestic issues which remain unsettled and said they are more important to the welfare of the people than any possibility of a foreign war.

We have 10 or 11 millions unemployed in this country, explained the senator, and perhaps half our population living on a scale of life little above the bare necessities. The agricultural problem is still awaiting some satisfactory solution, while old age pensions, the railroad difficulties and a dozen other matters are urging immediate and serious consideration.

Senator Borah believes that if we can successfully cope with our own domestic problems, and bring back contentment to our people, we need have no fear of a foreign war nor the propaganda which would incite such fear.

A One Man Railroad

The February issue of the American Magazine in its "America's Interesting People" department devoted an entire page to Roy Rawlings of Hope Valley, Rhode Island, a former Morgan county man who is credited with owning and operating the only "one man railroad" in the country. The magazine published two photographs of his railroad equipment.

Mr. Rawlings was born and reared in the Dublin neighborhood southeast of this city. After his marriage, he went to Rhode Island, bought an abandoned farm, proved crops could still be grown upon it, and became a member of the state assembly.

Under the caption, "Magnate," the magazine said of him:

Roy Rawlings, a former speaker of the Rhode Island House of Representatives, is America's most modest railroad magnate. Last year he bought the 54 mile line between Hope Valley and Wood River Junction, R. I., from the New York, New Haven and Hartford. Price was $301-$300 for 336 of the 600 outstanding shares of stock, and $1 for a pile of bonds which have a face value of $56,000, but haven't paid any interest for seventeen years.

Rawlings, who makes at least four trips a week, has made the line a paying proposition by handling the products of his own grain business, which is situated on the right of way. The observation car is attached in front of the gasoline engine. Its principal function is to transport stockholders over the line for their annual meeting and breakfast dinner.

Anything Going to Be Cut Besides Expenses?

Rev. W. H. Pankhurst 1939 Encampment Of G. A. R. Will Be Held Here Early In June

Believes Decline of Family as Social Unit Benefits Individuals

Rev. W. H. Pankhurst, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, was the speaker for the regular weekly meeting of the J. H. S. Hi-Y club held yesterday evening.

The evolution of the family and its relationship to society was the topic for the address, the speaker emphasizing that, though the family as an institution and center of recreational interest is decreasing, the individual is, perhaps, benefitting from the change. Formerly the family contributed a large portion of the goods and material for its own consumption, making its own food, clothing, etc.

The speaker noted that very little of the family industrial life is being carried on at the present time, and there is evidence from the growing popularity of the apartment house living, that the family will become more and more a group of independent individuals rather than a social unit. The benefit from this change is to the individual, who, because of division of labor, etc., is able to enjoy more effective and highly developed, and cheaper products.

Following the usual supper, served in the high school cafeteria, a short business meeting was conducted by the president of the group, Leonard Staff, Jr. In the absence of the secretary, Earl Koenig, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. Group pictures of the recent state Older Boys' Meet in Peoria were distributed, and several announcements of interest to the group were made by the local "Y" secretary, A. D. Hermann.

The club authorized the executive committee to send a note to Sheriff A. E. Williamson, commending him on his recent action regarding gambling devices in the county. The faculty adviser of the Hi-Y club is Vernon Moore of the high school social science department.

Jacksonville will be the scene of the 1939 state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and its subsidiary organizations the early part of June. Six years ago, in June, 1933, the encampment was held here. The executive committees of the various organizations have again voluntarily selected Jacksonville as their convention city.

On Feb. 7 the G. A. R. executive committee will meet here with the committees from the ladies of the G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans, Sons of Union Veterans, and Auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans, to plan the convention for next June. John E. Adams of Quincy is commander of the Department of Illinois, G. A. R. The meeting is being called by Miss Clara F. Hoover, department secretary.

While the ranks of the Grand Army are depleted almost to the vanishing point, and few old soldiers are expected here in June, the auxiliary organizations are flourishing and have a numerous membership in Illinois. Their delegations will be large. Practically all of the surviving veterans of the war between the states, which ended 74 years ago this spring, are now over 90 years of age. Scores in communities in Illinois, which once had flourishing G. A. R. posts now have no veterans left.

The encampment usually lasts about three days. Each organization holds its own convention, and there are also some general sessions, including an annual banquet. A parade will be a feature of the program. The meeting of the executive committees on Feb. 7 will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at the Dunlap hotel.

MRS. LEE RETURNS FROM P. T. A. MEETING

Mrs. John H. Lee, district president of the Parent-Teacher association, has returned from Chicago where she attended the board meeting of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, held at the Stevens hotel.

During the two day session reports were heard and plans were made for a general program to be carried out in the committee work. The board endorsed "Emergency Federal Aid for Schools" and an "Improved Drivers' License Bill."

Mrs. A. R. Williams was appointed chairman of the nominating committee and Mrs. Christian Koch of Rock Island chairman of committee on committees, to serve at the convention. Further plans were also discussed on arrangements for the convention which is to be held April 18, 19, 20 in Chicago at the Stevens hotel.

Exhibit of Hofer Works to End Jan. 15

Many students and art lovers are visiting the Strawn gallery in Jacksonville, being particularly interested in the works on display of Karl Hofer, perhaps the most international of the German modern artists. The exhibition will continue through Sunday, January 15th.

In "The Landing, Hofer seems torn by some tragic destiny. His palette becomes darker and more somber and his distortions plumb the depths of tragedy. Some of his earlier paintings have the foreboding flavor of the Old Testament prophets. "Calling" seems to be really a "Voice in the Wilderness."

Whatever subjects this important artist paints, whether figure, landscape or still-life, they are always characterized by two complementary aspects: severe construction and a sensuous surface texture overlaid with the richly variegated colors that are identifiable with Hofer's peculiar style. Some of his landscapes are of beautiful Lugano, Switzerland, where he made his home.

Three distinct types in drawing disclose unusually versatility in the Indian paintings included in the exhibition at the gallery. The first of these styles belong to naive realistic paintings of ceremonial such as the Deer Dance, the Buffalo Dance and the Basket Dance and various war dances. The second style is dominated by a landscape of terraced mountain sides, perhaps with an arching rainbow and masses of heaping clouds. Against this background of formal beauty he draws bounding deer or antelope sometimes with a huntsman in pursuit. The third type comprises strange drawing and composite monsters, with color. These are forms that usually live in the twilight zones of religious usage, now dragged forth into the glare of modern day. The Indians' love of color and dramatic sense in pose pervade the productions.

Langer, the court ordering the defendant not to dispose of or encumber any of his property until the suit is disposed of, and to refrain from molesting his wife or their two children. The divorce was filed on the grounds of extreme and repeated cruelty and habitual drunkenness, and alleges that the couple have been living in Waverly and Kampsville where they have business interests.

Judge Wright also granted Imogene Smith a divorce from Granville Smith, and permitted the plaintiff to resume her maiden name of Imogene Green. The divorce was awarded when the plaintiff showed that her husband had left her.

A decree for sale of property involved in the suit brought by Harriett Long against the First National bank of Arenzville also was entered, and the court set the bond of the receiver at $4,000. The suit was originally brought for the appointment of a trustee.

Not Headlines. But—

A group of local dramatic artists went forth to put on a play. A scene in the production called for a big shoe to be protruded from behind a curtain. In the next act a gun was to be fired. The actor who had to get the shoe went back stage calling frantically, "Gimmee a shoe, shoe, shoe." The director having the gun thought the actor said "Shoo!" The gun roared. The actor whose cue was the sound of the gun ran onto the stage. Fortunately the audience thought everything had been planned that way.

"If I were as crazy about slot machines as are some folks," remarked a local citizen, "I'd buy one, take it home and load it with cash. Then I'd play as much as I liked. Anyhow I'd get it all, instead of a small percentage."

We know some dads who say they are glad to see it snow. They bought the kids sleds for Christmas and are waiting a chance to use them.

Col. Jacob Ruppert's Ambition Was to Have A Consistent Winner

New York, Jan. 13.—It is that old story of a man who has made his name in the world of sports, but whose ambition was to have a consistent winner. Jacob Ruppert, who built the New York Yankees into a team that has won the world championship five times, was the only person in the history of the game who has done this.

The Yankees' success was not a matter of chance. It was the result of a plan that Ruppert had in mind from the very beginning. He wanted a team that would win every year, and he was determined to have it. He did this by building a team of winners, and he did it by having a consistent manager in George B. Stoney.

When he and Colonel Tillinghast had purchased the Yankees, they were in the hands of a man who was a failure in the world of sports. But Ruppert saw the potential of the team, and he was determined to make it a winner. He did this by building a team of winners, and he did it by having a consistent manager in George B. Stoney.

Bluffs Knocks Off Old Rival to Keep In Conference Lead

Winchester—Bluffs took the second year in a row knocked off their old rivals, Winchester, 40 to 26, but equally as important to the Bluejays was the fact that the victory enabled them to stay in the lead of the North-western Illinois Valley championship race. To make the evening more interesting, a Bluffs standstill the Bluffs seconds took the curtain raiser 34 to 21.

Dunham paced the attack for the victors with 14 points, but Magelz and Rolf both had their shooting eyes along. Carlson was the high scorer for Winchester with 10 points.

Manush Sees Fight Between Bues-Reds

Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 13.—(P)—Hemle Manush joined the throng out on the limb today with a prediction the 1939 National League pennant fight would be between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the no-longer lowly Cincinnati Reds.

And he also said it would be the Yanks again in the American, a forecast a big portion of the baseball world no longer considers qualification for a place on the limb.

The veteran outfielder, currently with the Pirates and in the major leagues for 17 years, said he really considered the 1939 Pittsburgh team the one to beat in the National.

Manush listed three reasons why the Pirates should be better this year: Rizzo, Handley and Paul Waner.

Griggsville Downs Pittsfield, 30 to 21

I. S. D. Takes Lead In Third Quarter, J. H. S. Then Starts Hitting

Shaking off the basketball blues after Illinois School for the Deaf had taken the lead in the third quarter, Jacksonville high turned on some scoring speed to win a Central conference and city conference basketball game last night on the I. S. D. court by a 42 to 23 score. The victory left the Crimsons undefeated in both conferences.

The Tigers had the edge through the first half, but they couldn't hit the hoop. They outplayed their more lengthy rivals, and finished the half with the score tied. Then the Crimsons asserted themselves, and working a whirling type offense, they put on a scoring drive with Junior Little at first furnishing the points, then Charles Johnson, and then Clyde Vasconcellos.

Maybe it was the size of the court that baffled the Crimsons at the start, or it might have been that they weren't expecting the Tigers to throw up a man-to-man defense. Only their height saved them from getting behind in the opening half of play when the Tigers were able to work the ball in for one short shot, but were unable to get second shots because the Crimsons towers hovered around the hoop and grabbed the ball.

The Crimsons pushed off in front 7 to 4 in the opening quarter but the Tigers hung on grimly by toasting in their shots from the free throw line while the Crimsons were missing theirs. The Tigers jumped out in front just before the half ended, but Bob Weaver hung in a shot to tie the score at 11 all just at the end.

Crawford dumped in a shot on the second half tip off to put the Tigers in front, but then the Crimsons set down to play basketball. Little got down a free throw to start the chase, and then after Vasconcellos picked in one shot, Little dropped in seven straight points before the Tigers were able to tally, running the score 34 to 21.

Believe Col. Ruppert Has Provided Perpetuation For New York Yankees

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Whatever the details of Colonel Jacob Ruppert's will, the New York Yankees will continue on their terrible way, breaking the hearts of the opposition and winning world baseball championships for their late beloved owner.

Only a few of his most trusted lieutenants know what provision the little colonel made for the perpetuation of his vast baseball empire, yet none who knew his love of the Yankees doubts that he has arranged for their future.

"The Yankees will go on," said the club secretary 70-year-old Red Barrow, who built the great baseball machine with the unlimited backing of Ruppert's money. "We all have to live out our lives, like the colonel did. I promised him we would win a fourth straight world championship for him."

It is taken for granted that Barrow and George Weiss, the head of the Yankees' extensive "farm" system, will continue to administer the property, value of which has been estimated up to $20,000,000. It is assumed the Yankees, who were the separate and distinct property of Colonel Ruppert, will become part of the fabulous Ruppert estate, now headed by the Colonel's younger brother, George Ruppert.

George never has been much of a baseball fan, having confined himself to the administration of the brewery and the estate's extensive property holdings. None can remember having seen him at Yankee Stadium, so it is considered doubtful he will become active in Yankee affairs.

More likely is the assumption Col. Ruppert has established his Yankees on some sort of lasting foundation, with perhaps a regency council composed of Barrow, Weiss and his brother George.

There is little likelihood that the Yankees system ever will be offered for sale, at least so long as there remains Ruppert to remember the old Colonel's pride in his champions. There are few men with enough money to swing such a deal, anyway.

It was a source of pleasure to all who knew Colonel Ruppert and Babe Ruth to learn the once great slugger of the Yankees was at the Colonel's bedside shortly before his death, and that Ruppert called him "Babe" affectionately for the first and only time in his life. The Babe's name will ever be linked with the rise of the Yankees.

They had not been friendly in recent years, not since the Bambino, realizing his playing days were about ended, called upon the Colonel at the brewery and asked him point-blank if he intended to appoint him manager of the Yankees.

"No, Mr. Ruth," Col. Ruppert replied. "Mr. McCarthy is my manager."

"Then give me my release," demanded the Babe, and stormed from the room.

Ruth has known few really happy moments since he severed his connection with Ruppert, despite the fact he saved enough of the huge salary he received from the Yankees to make him financially independent. The Babe is at loose ends now, unable even to land a job broadcasting games from any of the local parks.

BROTHERS ADMIT THEY STOLE FIVE CALVES

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 13.—(P)—Sheriff James White said today Homer Coulthard, 22, and Grant Coulthard, 20, brothers of St. Charles, were arrested at nearby Rochelle and held for questioning by authorities of eight Northern Illinois counties concerning recent cattle rustling.

White said the brothers confessed the theft of five calves from a Lee county farm early today and had implicated others. Authorities from Winnebago, DeKalb, Lee, Boone, Stephenson, Ogle, La Salle and Whiteside counties went to Rochelle late today to question the men about raids in their areas. White added.

BLANTON SIGNS

Pittsburgh, Jan. 13.—(P)—Pitcher Cy Blanton sent his signed contract to the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club today with a letter declaring he was "well satisfied" with his salary for 1939.

The figure was undisclosed. Blanton, from Shawnee, Okla., 11 and lost 7 games for the Pirates during 1938 and in his five full seasons with the club pitched 56 wins and 48 losses.

Arky Vaughan, the Pirate's shortstop, whose 322 batting record placed him fifth among the National League hitters in 1938, also returned his signed contract today.

horse. Their record to date is rather impressive, having defeated Winchester, Pittsfield, and Carrollton prior to the Christmas holidays, and being defeated by Roodhouse and Bluffs during that period.

They defeated Winchester by four points, Pittsfield by one and Carrollton by one. They were defeated by Roodhouse by one point and Bluffs by eight. Since the Christmas holidays they have defeated Feltshans High school, Springfield, which up to that time had been undefeated.

The Jacksonville team is a large team with plenty of reserve strength and Coach Walker has been using this reserve strength to wear down opposition.

They meet Greenfield in their first game of the tournament, and should they win, they will be thrown into the winner of the Bluffs-Pleasant Hill game.

If Jacksonville continues to improve as they have in the past month, they will be hard to beat.

Winchester Sixth. The Winchester Community High school team was rated sixth by the coaches of the teams entered in the tournament. The Winchester team has been an in-and-out team most of the year, showing very strong offensive strength, but lacking at times defensive strength; however, when the Winchester boys are on they are hard to beat. This is shown by the scores of several of their games. The Winchester boys will show the fans that they are in there fighting. They meet Murrayville in their first game, a team from one of the smaller schools that has a rather impressive win record.

Nebo and Griggsville were rated seventh and eighth respectively. Both teams have been noted in the past as basketball centers, and although their records have been marred to some extent lately, they can be counted upon to give a good account of themselves in this tournament.

Up to the holidays Griggsville had won 4 and lost 3 games, while Nebo had won 7 and lost 1. Nebo is scheduled against the White Hall team for their first game, while Griggsville is scheduled against the Carrollton team, which might prove stronger than at first expected.

Nebo has won this tournament more times than any other team in the past and always has been a good team in this tournament.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, N.E. SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Mr. Bryant, Janet's attorney, calls her asking that she come to see him since there are some very important matters to discuss.

CHAPTER VI
WHEN Janet carried her bills up to her own room, she was shocked and incredulous to find out how much she had spent during the past month.

There were several considerable items that Cynthia had charged to her account. On previous occasions Cynthia had charged things to her, and Aunt Mary had paid for them as a matter of course. But I can't give the bills to Aunt Mary this time, Janet thought. Not after this afternoon.

The whole thing came to considerably more than her balance at the bank. Her dressmaker's bills were still to come; and aside from the fact that she would need a great deal of ready money during the next few days, there was, Lance had told her, an immediate payment due upon the house.

She must make sure, when she talked to Mr. Bryant tomorrow, to arrange for those payments. And perhaps, after all, there might be enough margin to take care of the difference between the rent on this apartment and that of the smaller one Aunt Mary talked of taking at the Avalon.

Janet had just thrown the last envelope into the wastebasket when Aunt Mary opened the door. "Janet! Dwight!" she cried, sweeping down upon her niece with all the indignant authority of her five feet two. "Do you mean to tell me that you haven't taken off those wet things yet? Get them off this minute, and yourself into a hot tub of water. After that, you're going to bed."

"But, Aunt Mary," Janet protested, "I'm not ready to go to bed. Besides, I want my dinner. This business of rushing around getting ready to be married burns up the calories!"

"Do not ask you whether or not you were ready," Aunt Mary placidly folded hands which, not so many years ago, had so capably wielded a switch. When Aunt Mary spoke in that tone, Janet almost forgot for the moment that the switch was not still at hand. "Marry will bring you a tray in due time."

SO Janet soaked in fragrant warm suds for a luxurious half hour; then she slipped into a soft gown negligee, and after the hot soup, omelet, and salad which Margy brought her, snatched on her bed lamp and stretched out with a new book.

It really was blissful to have an idle evening alone after the last few weeks' mad round of fittings and showers and late parties.

She had read a chapter or two when a knock sounded at her door, and Cynthia slipped into the room. It was worthy of note that Cynthia had bothered to knock at all; but it was not that which made Janet put down her book and give her undivided attention to her cousin.

There was in Cynthia's manner as she poised there, a slim, black-gowned silhouette leaning against the creamy panel of the door, a strange, almost breathless excitement. It dilated the pupils of her violet eyes, and lent a new transparency to the pallor of her skin against the dark cloud of hair that hung to her shoulders.

She was wearing a black dinner frock with a long full skirt that rippled about her silver sandals in lustrous folds. The slim tight basque had silver buttons up the front and slashes of silver at the wrists. It was a dress which Janet did not recognize.

Cynthia's eyes followed her own as they swept over it. "No, you've never seen it before," Cynthia said. "I'm sorry about it, Jan. I should have asked you first; but after I'd seen it I just couldn't risk having somebody beat me to it."

"It does suit you marvellously," Jan said. "Of course you know I shouldn't have bought it if I'd known—about Aunt Mary's money. I tried to return it today, but the store had made a lot of alterations on it."

"It would have been a pity to send it back. It does things for you, Cyn. It makes you look like a princess out of a story book."

"I know it's a knock-out. That's why I'm wearing it tonight. I have an idea"—Cynthia went even paler and broke off on a caught breath—"I have an idea I'm going to make it pay for itself."

Janet exclaimed, "Cynthia—but you can't mean that you're going to sell it?"

"Sell it?" Cynthia's smile twisted a little. "Perhaps that's not such a bad way to put it. But not in the way you mean, Jan."

Jan opened her lips to ask "Cynthia, what on earth are you talking about?" Then her memory echoed Aunt Mary's words of the afternoon, "Just as much as Cynthia usually means when she's feeling dramatic," and she laughed softly.

"Well, have yourself a good

QUARTET TO BRING FINE COLLECTION OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Probably the finest collection of four musical instruments in actual use today will be brought to Jacksonville by the Gordon string quartet which is to play the third concert in the MacMurray College concert series at eight o'clock p.m. Wednesday, January 18, in the high school auditorium. The members of the Gordon string quartet have chosen their instruments with extreme care so that they will blend together in perfect harmony. The instruments used by the Gordon string quartet are considered to be the most valuable in the world owned by any young organization of its type.

Jaqueline Gordon, violin, is known by the name Tom, Taylor, named after his home place, is one of the ten Stradivarius made in the world made by the master in 1732 when he was thirty years of age. Mr. Gordon purchased the violin from the widow of Mr. Taylor for forty thousand dollars.

The second violin, David Jackson plays a Vincento Pionino instrument, dated 1754. Authentic Pioninos are very rare, but many imitations of the real instrument are played in the United States.

Violinist William Lambert owns two valuable instruments. One was made by Giuseppe of Cremona and the other by the French, master of the nineteenth century, Jean Baptiste Vuillaume.

Naum Benditzky plays a valuable Violoncello made by Serafino, celebrated violin maker of Venice. His violin was made sometime between 1678 and 1735.
